Donald, of Mangaroon station, north of Gascoyne Junction, about 650 miles north of Perth, named his mine Star of Mangaroon.

While turning up a creek in the area he found a gold-bearing stony outcrop.

"I sent the first sample of ore to Perth to be assayed and was staggered to find that it went 10oz 7dwt to the ton," he said.

On the bottom of the assayer's report was written, "If you don't start working this I'll come up and do it myself."

McDonald pegged a prospecting area of 24 acres and started working the mine on May 30, 1960.

In November that year the first trial crushing went through the old battery at the mining ghost town of Peak Hill, more than 300 miles from Mangaroon.

The result from 38 tons of ore was a staggering 145oz of gold.

Two shafts

In June, 1961, 60 tons of ore was crushed at the Meekatharra State Battery and 251oz of gold was won.

The next five crushings at Meekatharra produced a total of 868oz of gold and the most recent crushing, last month, produced 237oz from 95 tons of ore.

All the ore was carted 365 miles across rugged tracks by road trains to Meekatharra at the end of 1961.

The mine, now worked fulltime by McDonald's

Appendix One - risks

Set out in this section are potential risks associated with the Company, the Placement, the industry in which DRE operates and an investment in DRE shares. It is not an exhaustive list of every risk faced by the Company now or in the future.

Global economic conditions	Changes in global economic conditions (including changes in interest rates, inflation, currency inflation, industrial disruption, foreign exchange rates and labour costs) may impact the operational and financial conditions performance of the Company.
Share price fluctuations	The value of the Company's shares will be determined by the stock market and will be subject to varied and often unpredictable influences in the share market beyond the Company's control and the last trading price of the Company's shares on ASX prior to the presentation is not a reliable indicator as to the potential trading price of the Company in the future. These factors include, but are not limited to, the demand for, and availability of the Company's shares, movements in interest rates, exchange rates, and rates of inflation, fluctuations in the Australian and international stock markets, changes in fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies, and general domestic and international and economic activity. Depending on general market conditions and the Company's share price, the Company may not be able to attract new investors or raise capital as and when required.
Global pandemic	Any future pandemic, may have a material adverse impact on the operations and financial performance of the Company. Local, national and international events of this nature are not within the control of the Company including impacts of government and regulatory restrictions that have or may be implemented including as to travel, employment, operational matters, imports or good/services.
Gold price	The success of the Company's operations is primarily dependent on the price of gold bullion as substantially all of the Company's potential revenues are derived from the sale of gold. Gold prices are volatile and may fluctuate as a result of numerous factors, which are beyond the control of the Company. Such factors include, but are not limited to: - speculative positions taken by investors or traders in gold; - changes in global demand for gold (as an investment and/or for other uses); - global and regional recessions or reduced economic activity and/or inflationary expectations; - financial market expectations regarding the rate of inflation; - the strength of the US dollar (the currency in which gold trades internationally); - gold hedging and de-hedging by gold producers; - decisions made by central banks and multilateral organisations to purchase, hold or sell portions of their gold reserves; - changes in production costs in major gold producing regions, and - domestic or international political or geopolitical events, unrest or hostilities. Historically, the price of gold has fluctuated widely. The possible adverse consequences of future price declines could include the following: - The Company's operations may become uneconomic because the projected future revenues no longer justify the costs of operation or development; - The Company's revenues may decline to a point at which its operations are uneconomic, as a result of which the Company may cease production; - The value of the Company's assets may decline, causing it to write down asset values and thereby incur losses; and - The Company may be required to restate its gold reserves and resources.
Exchange rate risk	A portion of mine operation expenditures and future project equipment expenditures are denominated in foreign currency which exposes the Company to exchange rate risk.
Key personnel	The Company's success depends on the continued services of its key personnel. Due to management's experience and the important role they have taken in developing the Company's mining, business and financial plans, the Company could be adversely affected if any of the key management team ceased to actively participate in the management of the Company or ceased employment with the Company entirely. As there may be a limited number of persons with the requisite experience and skills to serve in the Company's senior management positions if existing management leave the Company, the Company may not be able to locate or employ qualified executives on acceptable terms. If the Company cannot attract, train and retain qualified managers, it could adversely affect the Company's current exploration, development and future production operations and its future growth plans. There can also be no assurance that the Company's operations will not be affected by labour related problems in the future, such as disputes relating to wage or requests for increased employee benefits.
Availability of capital	The Company may require further financing support in the future to support additional capital expenditure or to meet future objectives. There is no certainty that it will be successful in obtaining the financing required as and when needed, on favourable terms, or at all. Changing investor and lender appetite for exposure to the resource sector may also limit the future availability of equity and debt capital. There can be no assurance that the Company can obtain future financing on a timely basis and this failure may compromise the Company's ability to achieve its strategic objectives, or could ultimately impact upon its ability to continue as a going concern.

Taxation	Changes to corporate income tax, import duties, property tax, excise tax, withholding tax or any other applicable taxation legislation or policies in Australia, or other jurisdictions where the Company operates or procures supply may adversely affect the Company's financial profitability, net assets and cash flow and the returns to investors. The countries in which the Company operates or procures supply may impose additional taxes on the Company. The recoupment of taxation losses accrued by the Company from any future revenues is subject to the satisfaction of tests outlined in taxation legislation or regulations in relevant jurisdictions. There is no guarantee that the Company will satisfy all these requirements at the time it seeks to recoup its tax losses which may impact on the financial performance and cash flows of the Company
Conditions and renewals of licences	The permits and agreements on the Company's projects are governed by Australian legislation and are evidenced by the granting of permits and agreements and the extension of such permits and agreements. Each permit, agreement or extension is for a specific term and carries with it annual expenditure and reporting commitments, as well as other conditions requiring compliance. There is a risk that tenements, environmental consents and any other land use approvals may not be granted, obtained or renewed, may be granted, obtained or renewed on terms that are not satisfactory to the Company, or may be obtained granted or renewed but not within the timeframes anticipated by the Company. This could have a material adverse effect on the Company's future operations and financial performance.
Financial condition	The Company's results and financial condition may vary with fluctuations in costs. No assurance can be given that the Company will achieve its financial estimates. The Company will endeavour to take appropriate action to mitigate financial risks inherent in its business.
Land access arrangements	Utilisation of land for exploration and development purposes can be adversely affected by land ownership, including private (freehold) land, pastoral lease and native title land or claims under the Native Title Act 1993 (Cth) (NTA) (or similar legislation in the jurisdiction where the Company operates). The effect of the NTA is that existing and new tenements held by the Company may be affected by native title claims and procedures. There is a potential risk that a determination could be made that native title exists in relation to land the subject of a tenement held or to be held by the Company which may affect the operation of the Company's business and development activities
Mineral Resource Estimates	Mineral resource estimates are a subjective process based on drilling results, past experience with mining properties and modifying factors, knowledge, industry practice and many other factors. Estimates which are valid when made may change substantially when new information becomes available. The actual quality and characteristics of mineral deposits cannot be known until mining and processing takes place and will almost always differ from the assumptions used to develop mineral resources.
Insurance	The Company's business is subject to a number of risks and hazards generally, including adverse environmental conditions, industrial accidents, labour disputes, code of conduct breaches, unusual or unexpected geological conditions, ground or slope failures and natural phenomena such as inclement weather conditions (including cyclones), floods and earthquakes. Such occurrences could result in damage to facilities, personnel injury or death, environmental damage to the Company's properties and the properties of others, delays in development or mining, monetary losses and possible legal liability. In addition, there is a risk that an issuer defaults in the payment of a legitimate claim by the Company. Although the Company maintains insurance to protect against certain risks in such amounts as it considers it to be reasonable, its insurance will not cover all of the potential risks associated with its business. The Company may also be unable to maintain insurance to cover those risks at economically feasible premiums. Insurance coverage may not continue to be available or may not be adequate to cover any resulting liability. In addition, there is a risk that an insurer defaults on a payment of a legitimate claim by the Company. Losses from any of these events may cause the Company to incur significant costs that could have a material adverse effect on its financial performance and results of operations.
Environmental regulations and risk	National and local environmental laws and regulations in jurisdictions in which the Company operates affect the Company. These laws and regulations set various standards regulating certain aspects of health and environmental quality, provide for penalties and other liabilities for the violation of such standards and establish, in certain circumstances, obligations to remediate current and former facilities and locations where operations are or were conducted. The Company will minimise the potential impact of these laws and regulations by taking steps to ensure compliance with environmental regulations and, where possible, by carrying appropriate insurance. Significant liability could be imposed on the Company for damages, clean-up costs or penalties in the event of certain discharges into the environment, environmental damage caused by previous owners of properties acquired by the Company, or non-compliance with environmental laws or regulations. This could have an adverse effect on the Company's financial and operational performance.
Exploration and development risk	The exploration for and development of mineral deposits is speculative and involves significant risks. Whether a mineral deposit will be commercially viable depends on a number of factors, including: the particular attributes of the deposit (such as size, grade and proximity to infrastructure), metal prices, metallurgical recovery, capital construction and operating costs, and government regulation including regulations relating to prices, taxes, royalties, land tenure, land use, exporting of minerals and environmental protection. There is no certainty that the expenditures made by the Company towards the search for and evaluation of mineral deposits, will result in discoveries of commercial quantities of ore, nor will any discoveries be profitably exploited.
Regulations	The Company's operations are subject to government laws, regulations and policies governing (among other things) taxation, exploration, production, exports, labour standards, occupational health and safety and environmental protection. Any future changes in these laws, regulations or policies may adversely affect the Company's operations. As an Australian domiciled company listed on the ASX, changes in relevant taxation, interest rates, other legal, legislative and administrative regimes, and Government policies in Australia, may have an adverse effect on operations and ultimately the financial performance of the Company and the market price of its securities.

Occupational Health & Safety

The Company's operations are subject to a variety of industry specific health and safety laws and regulations which are formulated to improve and to protect the safety and health of employees. Mining operations are inherently hazardous. While the Company seeks to implement best practice procedures in occupational health and safety, the occurrence of any industrial accidents, workplace injuries or fatalities may result in workers' compensation claims, related common law claims and potential occupational health and safety prosecutions. Accordingly, any liabilities for workplace accidents could have a material adverse impact on the Company. It is not possible to anticipate the effect on the Company's business from any changes to workplace occupational health and safety legislation or directions or necessitated by concern for the health of the workforce. Such changes may have an adverse impact on the financial performance and/or financial position of the Company.

Litigation

Legal proceedings may arise from time to time in the course of the Company's business. The Company may be involved in disputes with other parties in the future which may result in litigation. Any such claim or dispute, if proven, may impact adversely on the Company's operations, financial performance and financial position.

Acquisition and divestment risk

From time to time, the Company evaluates opportunities for acquisition and divestment of assets and participates in discussions with third parties on a confidential basis. Neither the opportunities nor the negotiations will be disclosed publicly until such time as the prospects of transacting are sufficiently certain and the materiality of any transaction has been determined. The execution and implementation of transactions of this nature may impact the Company's operations, financial performance and financial position and lead to a change in the Company's future capital, operating expenditure and funding requirements. However, there is no guarantee that any such transaction will emerge or be consummated.

Cyber risk

Like other entities the Company may be exposed to the risk of cyber attacks on its systems and operations. Such attacks may involve a denial of service, corruption of data, exposure of private data in breach of regulations or requests for payment of monies. The Company believes it has appropriate data security mitigations in place, however no guarantee that this will be sufficient to prevent a successful attack can be given.

Community and social risks

The Company's relationship with the communities in which it operates is important to ensure the future success of its existing operations and the construction and development of its social risks projects. While the Company believes its relationships with the communities in which it operates are strong, there is an increasing level of public scrutiny regarding the effect of mining activities on the environment, aboriginal heritage and on communities impacted by such activities. A failure by the Company to adequately respond to changes in environmental laws (including those relating to climate change) or comply with regulations governing access may adversely affect the Company's relationship with key stakeholders, community relations and its social licence to operate.

Canada (British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec provinces)

This document constitutes an offering of New Shares only in the Provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec (the “Provinces”), only to persons to whom New Shares may be lawfully distributed in the Provinces, and only by persons permitted to sell such securities. This document is not a prospectus, an advertisement or a public offering of securities in the Provinces. This document may only be distributed in the Provinces to persons who are “accredited investors” within the meaning of National Instrument 45-106 – Prospectus Exemptions, of the Canadian Securities Administrators.

No securities commission or authority in the Provinces has reviewed or in any way passed upon this document, the merits of the New Shares or the offering of the New Shares and any representation to the contrary is an offence.

No prospectus has been, or will be, filed in the Provinces with respect to the offering of New Shares or the resale of such securities. Any person in the Provinces lawfully participating in the offer will not receive the information, legal rights or protections that would be afforded had a prospectus been filed and receipted by the securities regulator in the applicable Province. Furthermore, any resale of the New Shares in the Provinces must be made in accordance with applicable Canadian securities laws. While such resale restrictions generally do not apply to a first trade in a security of a foreign, non-Canadian reporting issuer that is made through an exchange or market outside Canada, Canadian purchasers should seek legal advice prior to any resale of the New Shares.

The Company as well as its directors and officers may be located outside Canada and, as a result, it may not be possible for purchasers to effect service of process within Canada upon the Company or its directors or officers. All or a substantial portion of the assets of the Company and such persons may be located outside Canada and, as a result, it may not be possible to satisfy a judgment against the Company or such persons in Canada or to enforce a judgment obtained in Canadian courts against the Company or such persons outside Canada.

Any financial information contained in this document has been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards and also comply with International Financial Reporting Standards and interpretations issued by the International Accounting Standards Board. Unless stated otherwise, all dollar amounts contained in this document are in Australian dollars.

Statutory rights of action for damages and rescission. Securities legislation in certain Provinces may provide a purchaser with remedies for rescission or damages if an offering memorandum contains a misrepresentation, provided the remedies for rescission or damages are exercised by the purchaser within the time limit prescribed by the securities legislation of the purchaser’s Province. A purchaser may refer to any applicable provision of the securities legislation of the purchaser’s Province for particulars of these rights or consult with a legal adviser.

Certain Canadian income tax considerations. Prospective purchasers of the New Shares should consult their own tax adviser with respect to any taxes payable in connection with the acquisition, holding or disposition of the New Shares as there are Canadian tax implications for investors in the Provinces.

Language of documents in Canada. Upon receipt of this document, each investor in Canada hereby confirms that it has expressly requested that all documents evidencing or relating in any way to the sale of the New Shares (including for greater certainty any purchase confirmation or any notice) be drawn up in the English language only. Par la réception de ce document, chaque investisseur canadien confirme par les présentes qu’il a expressément exigé que tous les documents faisant foi ou se rapportant de quelque manière que ce soit à la vente des valeurs mobilières décrites aux présentes (incluant, pour plus de certitude, toute confirmation d’achat ou tout avis) soient rédigés en anglais seulement.
