This Prospectus is a transaction specific prospectus for an offer of continuously quoted securities (as defined in the Corporations Act) and has been prepared in accordance with section 713 of the Corporations Act. It does not contain the same level of disclosure as an initial public offering prospectus and is only required to contain information in relation to the effect of the issue of securities on a company and the rights attaching to the securities. It is not necessary to include general information in relation to all of the assets and liabilities, financial position, profits and losses or prospects of the issuing company.

These statements are based on an assessment of present economic and operating conditions, and on a number of assumptions regarding future events and actions that, as at the date of this Prospectus, are expected to take place.

Such forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties, assumptions and other important factors, many of which are beyond the control of the Company, the Directors and the Company's management.

The Company cannot and does not give any assurance that the results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements contained in this Prospectus will actually occur and investors are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements.

Applicants outside Australia

The distribution of this Prospectus in jurisdictions outside Australia may be restricted by law and persons who come into possession of this Prospectus should seek advice on and observe any of these restrictions. Any failure to comply with such restrictions may constitute a violation of applicable securities laws. This Prospectus does not constitute an offer of Shares in any jurisdiction where, or to any person to whom, it would be unlawful to issue in this Prospectus.

Continuous disclosure obligations

The Company is a "disclosing entity" (as defined in section 111AC of the Corporations Act) for the purposes of section 713 of the Corporations Act and, as such, is subject to regular reporting and disclosure obligations. Specifically, like all listed companies, the Company is required to continuously disclose any information it has to the market which a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or the value of the Shares.

This Prospectus is intended to be read in conjunction with the publicly available information in relation to the Company which has been notified to ASX and does not include all of the information that would be included in a prospectus for an initial public offering of securities in an entity that is not already listed on a stock exchange. Investors should therefore have regard to the other publicly available information in relation to the Company before making a decision whether or not to invest.

Having taken such precautions and having made such enquires as are reasonable, the Company believes that it has complied with the general and specific requirements of ASX as applicable from time to time throughout the three months before the issue of this Prospectus which required the Company to notify ASX of information about specified events or matters as they arise for the purpose of ASX making that information available to the stock market conducted by ASX.

Please refer to Section 5.2 for further details.

Financial forecasts

The Directors have considered the matters set out in ASIC Regulatory Guide 170 and believe that they do not have a reasonable basis to forecast future earnings on the basis that the operations of the Company are inherently uncertain. Accordingly, any forecast or projection information would contain such a broad range of potential outcomes and possibilities that it is not possible to prepare a reliable best estimate forecast or projection.

Clearing House Electronic Sub-Register System (CHES) and Issuer Sponsorship

The Company will apply to participate in CHES, for those investors who have, or wish to have, a sponsoring stockbroker. Investors who do not wish to participate through CHES will be issuer sponsored by the Company.

Electronic sub-registers mean that the Company will not be issuing certificates to investors. Instead, investors will be provided with statements (similar to a bank account statement) that set out the number of Securities issued to them under this Prospectus. The notice will also advise holders of their Holder Identification Number or Security Holder Reference Number and explain, for future reference, the sale and purchase procedures under CHES and issuer sponsorship.

Electronic sub-registers also mean ownership of securities can be transferred without having to rely upon paper documentation. Further monthly statements will be provided to holders if there have been any changes in their security holding in the Company during the preceding month.

Unless the contrary intention appears or the context otherwise requires, words and phrases contained in this Prospectus have the same meaning and interpretation as given in the Corporations Act and capitalised terms have the meaning given in the Glossary in Section 7.

3. RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES ATTACHING TO SHARES

The following is a summary of the more significant rights and liabilities attaching to Shares being offered pursuant to this Prospectus. This summary is not exhaustive and does not constitute a definitive statement of the rights and liabilities of Shareholders. To obtain such a statement, persons should seek independent legal advice.

Full details of the rights and liabilities attaching to Shares are set out in the Constitution, a copy of which is available for inspection at the Company's registered office during normal business hours.

(a) General meetings

Shareholders are entitled to be present in person, or by proxy, attorney or representative to attend and vote at general meetings of Forrestania.

Directors may, whenever they think fit, convene and arrange to hold a general meeting, cancel a general meeting or postpone the holding of a general meeting to a date determined by them. This is not permitted in circumstances where a general meeting is convened in accordance with the Corporations Act by a single Director, by Forrestania Shareholders or by Directors at the request of Shareholders.

Shareholders may requisition meetings in accordance with section 249D of the Corporations Act and the Constitution.

(b) Voting rights

Subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to any class or classes of Shares, at general meetings of Shareholders or classes of Shareholders:

- (i) each Shareholder entitled to vote may vote in person or by proxy, attorney or representative;
- (ii) on a show of hands, every person present who is a Shareholder or a proxy, attorney or representative of a Shareholder has one vote; and
- (iii) on a poll, every person present who is a Shareholder or a proxy, attorney or representative of a Shareholder shall, in respect of each fully paid Share held by him, or in respect of which he is appointed a proxy, attorney or representative, have one vote for the Share, but in respect of partly paid Shares shall have such number of votes as bears the same proportion to the total of such Shares registered in the Shareholder's name as the amount paid (not credited) bears to the total amounts paid and payable (excluding amounts credited).

(c) Dividend rights

Subject to the rights of any preference Shareholders and to the rights of the holders of any shares created or raised under any special arrangement as to dividend, the Directors may from time to time declare a dividend to be paid to the Shareholders entitled to the dividend which shall be payable on all Shares according to the proportion that the amount paid or credited as paid is of the total amounts paid and payable (excluding amounts credited) in respect of such Shares.

No dividend shall carry interest as against Forrestania. The Directors may set aside out of the profits of Forrestania any amounts that they may determine as reserves, to be applied at the discretion of the Directors, for any purpose for which the profits of Forrestania may be properly applied.

Subject to the ASX Listing Rules and the Corporations Act, Forrestania may, by resolution of the Directors, implement a dividend reinvestment plan on such terms and conditions as the Directors think fit. Under this dividend reinvestment plan, the whole or any part of any dividend or interest due to members or holders of any convertible securities in the capital of Forrestania who participate in the plan on their shares or any class of shares or any convertible securities, or any other amount payable to shareholders, may be applied in subscribing for or purchasing securities of Forrestania.

(d) Winding-up

If Forrestania is wound up, the liquidator may, with the authority of a special resolution of Forrestania, divide among the shareholders in kind the whole or any part of the property of Forrestania, and may for that purpose set such value as he considers fair upon any property to be so divided, and may determine how the division is to be carried out as between the Shareholders or different classes of Shareholders.

The liquidator may, with the authority of a special resolution of Forrestania, vest the whole or any part of any such property in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of the contributories as the liquidator thinks fit, but so that no Shareholder is compelled to accept any Shares or other securities in respect of which there is any liability.

(e) Shareholder liability

As the Shares on issue in the Company are fully paid ordinary shares, they are not subject to any calls for money by the Directors and will therefore not become liable for forfeiture.

(f) Transfer of Shares

Generally, Shares are freely transferable, subject to formal requirements, the registration of the transfer not resulting in a contravention of or failure to observe the provisions of a law of Australia and the transfer not being in breach of the Corporations Act or the ASX Listing Rules.

The Directors may decline to register, or prevent the registration of, a transfer of shares or apply a holding lock to prevent a transfer in accordance with the Corporations Act. This can occur in circumstances where the transfer is not in registrable form, Forrestania has a lien over any of the shares held, the registration is in breach of Australian law or any ASX Listing Rules, the transfer is not permitted under the terms of an employee share plan or Forrestania is otherwise permitted or required to do so under the ASX Listing Rules.

(g) Variation of rights

Pursuant to section 246B of the Corporations Act, Forrestania may, with the sanction of a special resolution passed at a meeting of Shareholders vary or abrogate the rights attaching to Shares.

If at any time the share capital is divided into different classes of Shares, the rights attached to any class (unless otherwise provided by the terms of issue of the shares of that class), whether or not Forrestania is being wound up, may be varied or abrogated with the consent in writing of the holders of three-quarters of the issued shares of that class, or if authorised by a special resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of the shares of that class.

(h) Alteration of Constitution

The Constitution can only be amended by a special resolution passed by at least three quarters of Shareholders present and voting at the general meeting. In addition, at least 28 days written notice specifying the intention to propose the resolution as a special resolution must be given.

4. RISK FACTORS

4.1 Introduction

The Shares offered under this Prospectus should be considered as highly speculative and an investment in the Company is not risk free.

The Directors strongly recommend that prospective investors to consider the risk factors set out in this Section 4, together with information contained in this Prospectus.

The future performance of the Company and the value of the Shares may be influenced by a range of factors, many of which are largely beyond the control of the Company and the Directors. The key risks associated with the Company's business, the industry in which it operates and general risks applicable to all investments in listed securities and financial markets generally are described below.

The risks factors set out in this Section 4, or other risk factors not specifically referred to, may have a materially adverse impact on the performance of the Company and the value of the Shares. This Section 4 is not intended to provide an exhaustive list of the risk factors to which the Company is exposed.

If you do not understand any matters contained in this Prospectus or have any queries about whether to invest in the Company, you should consult your accountant, financial adviser, stockbroker, lawyer or other professional adviser.

4.2 Company specific

RISK CATEGORY	RISK
Mining and Exploration	The mineral exploration licences comprising the Company's projects are at various stages of exploration, and potential investors should understand that mineral exploration, development and production are high-risk undertakings. There can be no assurance that future exploration of these licences, or any other mineral licences that may be acquired in the future, will result in the discovery of an economic resource. Even if an apparently viable resource is identified, there is no guarantee that it can be economically exploited. The future exploration activities of the Company may be affected by a range of factors including geological conditions, limitations on activities due to seasonal weather patterns or adverse weather conditions, unanticipated operational and technical difficulties, difficulties in commissioning and operating plant and equipment, mechanical failure or plant breakdown, unanticipated metallurgical problems which may affect extraction costs, industrial and environmental accidents, industrial disputes, unexpected shortages and increases in the costs of consumables, spare parts, plant, equipment and staff, native title process, changing government regulations and many other factors beyond the control of the Company. The success of the Company will also depend, inter alia, upon its ability to maintain title to the mineral exploration licences comprising the Company's projects, obtaining all required approvals for their contemplated activities, successful exploration and/or acquisition of reserves, successful design, construction, commissioning and operating of mining and processing facilities, successful development and production in accordance with forecasts and successful management of the operations. In the event that exploration programmes prove to be unsuccessful this could lead to a diminution in the value of the Company's projects, a reduction in the cash reserves of the Company and possible relinquishment of one or more of the mineral exploration licences. The Company's exploration activities to date are not advanced to a stage where reliable reserve or resource estimates can be made. Reserve and resource estimates, if made in the future, are judgments based on drilling results, past experience with mining properties, knowledge, experience, industry practice and many other factors. Estimates which are valid when made may change substantially when new information becomes available. Ore estimation is an interpretive process based on available data and interpretations and, thus, estimations may prove inaccurate. The actual quality and characteristics of ore deposits cannot be known until mining takes place and will almost always differ from the assumptions used to develop reserves. Further, reserves are valued based on future costs and future prices and, consequently, the actual reserves and resources may differ from those estimated, which may result in either a positive or negative effect. No assurance can be given that commercial tonnages, grades or recovery will be achieved or realised. Commodity price fluctuations, increased production costs, or reduced recovery rates, may render possible reserves containing relatively lower grades uneconomic and may result in a restatement of such reserves. Moreover, short-term operating factors relating to possible reserves, such as sequential development of ore bodies and processing of new or different ore types or grades, may cause mining operations to be unprofitable in any particular accounting period. There is a risk that unforeseen geological and geotechnical difficulties may be encountered if and when developing and mining reserves. In this event, a loss of revenue may be caused due to the lower than expected production and/or higher than anticipated operation and maintenance costs and/or on-going unplanned capital expenditure in order to meet production targets.

Hyden Option	As announced by the Company to the ASX in an announcement dated 11 August 2025, the has entered into an option agreement to acquire 100% of the shares in Hyden Project Holdings Pty Ltd (HPH). Subsequently, on 3 November 2025, the Company announced that the option agreement had been extended and novated such that the Company would acquire 100% of the shares in Hyden Resources Pty Ltd (HRPL) upon exercise of the option. HRPL holds 100% of the shares in HPH. HPH is the registered holder of M77/1310, E77/2207, E77/2219, E77/2220, E77/2239, E77/2460, E77/2711 and P77/4534 (Hyden Tenements). Refer to the announcement of Forrestania on 11 August 2025 for detailed information on the assets of HRPL and HPH. It is publicly available information that Classic Minerals Limited has commenced proceedings in the Supreme Court of Western Australia asserting a right to ownership of the Hyden Tenements. Based on publicly available information, those proceedings are still before the Supreme Court of Western Australia. Classic Minerals Limited has also asserted, separately, rights to 80% of the gold rights on those Hyden Tenements under a Memorandum of Understanding. HRPL asserts that the Memorandum of Understanding has simply expired in accordance with its terms. If Classic Minerals

	Limited is successful in both of its claims, and Forresterania exercises its option, then there could be risks to the tenure and interest in gold on the Hyden Tenements. Assessment of the Court proceedings, and the information available to the Company will form part of any decision to exercise the option to acquire HRPL.
Completion of Kula Takeover Offer	As announced on 14 October 2025, the Company has entered into a bid implementation agreement with Kula Gold Limited (ACN 126 741 259) (Kula) pursuant to which the Company made a conditional off-market takeover offer to acquire all of the shares in Kula, that it does not already hold (Kula Takeover Offer). The Kula Takeover Offer is subject to a number of conditions, and satisfaction of these conditions is not assured. Factors that could impact completion include a material adverse change in Kula or the emergence of a competing proposal for Kula. Additionally, Kula shareholders may choose not to accept the offer to the extent required for the Company to satisfy the minimum acceptance condition of 50% of the Kula shares on issue (on a fully diluted basis) under the bid implementation agreement. Any delay, variation, or failure to satisfy the offer conditions could result in the takeover not proceeding, which may adversely affect the Company's strategic objectives and growth plans associated with the proposed acquisition.
Dependence on licences, permits and approvals	The Company's projects require governmental licences, permits, authorisations, concessions and other approvals in connection with their activities in Western Australia, including in relation to laws and regulations governing prospecting, development, mining, production, exports, taxes, labour standards, occupational health, waste disposal, toxic substances, land use, surface rights, environmental protection, safety and other matters (Operating Authorisations). Obtaining and complying with the necessary Operating Authorisations or governmental regulations can be complex, costly and time-consuming and is not assured. The duration, cost and success of applications for Operating Authorisations are contingent on many factors, including those outside the control of the Company. Delay in obtaining or renewing, or failure to obtain or renew, a material and necessary permit could mean that the Company may be delayed or, in a worst case scenario, unable to proceed with the development or continued operation of a mine or project. The Operating Authorisations that the Company need may not be issued, maintained or renewed either in a timely fashion or at all, which may constrain the ability of the Company to conduct its mining operations, which in turn may impact the Company's operations, financial performance and financial position. No assurance can be given that new laws or regulations will not be enacted or that existing laws and regulations will not be applied in a manner which could limit or curtail the Company's activities and ultimate development or operation of the Company's assets. Any inability to conduct the Company's mining operations pursuant to the applicable Operating Authorisations would materially reduce the Company's production and cash flow.

Operating risk	The Company's business operations are subject to risks and hazards inherent in the mineral exploration and development industry. The exploration for and the development of Mineral Resources involves significant risks, including failure to locate or identify commercially viable mineral deposits, environmental and safety hazards, operational and technical difficulties encountered in drilling and exploration, industrial accidents, equipment failure, import/customs delays, shortage or delays in installing and commissioning plant and equipment, unanticipated metallurgical problems which may affect eventual extraction costs, seismic activity, unusual or unexpected rock formations, flooding, fires, or other natural disasters, outbreaks, continuations or escalations of disease (including pandemics), interruption to, or the increase in costs of, services (such as water, fuel or transport), sabotage, labour shortages, community, government or other interference and interruption due to inclement or hazardous weather conditions. These risks could result in damage to, or destruction of, mineral properties, production and power facilities, dams, or other properties, and could cause personal injury or death, environmental damage, pollution, delays in mining, increased production costs, monetary losses and possible legal liability. In particular, mining operations involve the use of heavy machinery, which involves inherent risks that cannot be completely eliminated through preventative efforts. These risks and hazards could also result in damage to or destruction of property, plant and equipment, personal injury, environmental damage, business interruption, monetary losses and possible legal liability. Forrestania may become subject to liability for accidents, pollution or other hazards against which it cannot insure or against which it may elect not to insure because of premium costs or for other reasons, or in amounts which exceed policy limits. No assurances can be given that Forrestania will achieve commercial viability through exploration success and exploitation of its projects and, until Forrestania is able to realise value from its projects, it is likely to incur ongoing operational losses. Costs of production may be affected by a variety of factors, including changing waste-to-ore ratios, adverse weather conditions, geotechnical issues, unforeseen difficulties associated with power supply, water supply and infrastructure, ore grade, metallurgy, labour costs, changes to applicable laws and regulations, general inflationary pressures and currency exchange rates. If faced by the Company, these circumstances could result in the Company not realising its operational or development plans, or in such plans costing more than expected, or taking longer to realise than expected. Any of these outcomes could have an adverse effect on the Company's financial and operational performance.
Additional requirements for Capital	The Company's operations and expansion plans may also result in increases in expected capital expenditure commitments. The Company may require additional funding to continue or expand its business and may require additional capital in the future to, among other things, develop its projects or build additional processing capacity, and no assurance can be given that such external capital will be available at all or available on terms acceptable to the Company. In addition, should the Company consider that its exploration results justify commencement of production on any of the Company's Projects, additional funding will be required to implement the Company's development plans, the quantum of which remain unknown at the date of this Bidder's Statement. Following completion of the Offer, the Company may seek to raise further funds through equity or debt financing, joint ventures, licensing arrangements, or other means. In the event that the Company is unable or not permitted to obtain adequate external financing on acceptable terms, or at all, to satisfy its operating, development and expansion plans, the Company's business and results of operations may be materially and adversely affected. There can be no assurance that additional finance will be available when needed or, if available, the terms of the financing may not be favourable to the Company and might involve substantial dilution to Forrester Shareholders. If additional funds are raised through the issue of equity securities, the capital raising may be dilutive to shareholders (if the Company determines that a pro rata entitlement offer is not the most appropriate method of equity fundraising or shareholders elect not to participate in such entitlement offers). While the Company will be subject to the constraints of the ASX Listing Rules regarding the percentage of capital that it is able to issue within a 12-month period (other than where exceptions under the Listing Rules apply), the Company's Shareholders at the time may be diluted as a result of such capital raisings.

Results of Studies	Subject to the results of future exploration and testing programs, the Company may progressively undertake a number of studies in respect to the Company's current or new projects. These studies may include scoping, pre-feasibility and bankable feasibility studies. These studies will be completed within certain parameters designed to determine the economic feasibility of the Company's current or new projects within certain limits. There can be no guarantee that any of the studies will confirm the economic viability of the Company's current or new projects or the results of other studies undertaken by the Company (e.g. the results of a feasibility study may materially differ to the results of a scoping study). Further, even if a study determines the economics of the Company's current or new projects, there can be no guarantee that the current or new projects will be successfully brought into production as assumed or within the estimated parameters in the feasibility study once production commences including but not limited to operation costs, mineral recoveries and commodity prices. In addition, the ability of the Company to complete a study may be dependent on the Company's ability to raise further funds to complete the study if required.

4.3 Industry specific

RISK CATEGORY	RISK
Native Title and Aboriginal Heritage	In relation to tenements which the Company has an interest in or will in the future acquire such an interest, there may be areas over which legitimate common law native title rights of Aboriginal Australians exist. If native title rights do exist, the ability of the Company to gain access to tenements (through obtaining consent of any relevant landowner), or to progress from the exploration phase to the development and mining phases of operations may be adversely affected. There is a substantial level of regulation and restriction on the ability of exploration and mining companies to have access to land in Australia. Negotiations with both native title holders and landowners / occupiers are generally required before gaining access to land for exploration and mining activities. Inability or delays in gaining such access may adversely impact the Company's ability to undertake its proposed activities. The Company may need to enter into compensation and access agreements before gaining access to land. It is also possible that, in relation to tenements which the Company has an interest in or will in the future acquire such an interest, there may be areas over which legitimate rights of traditional owners or surface rights holders exist. In this case, the ability of the Company to gain access to tenements (through obtaining consent of any relevant traditional owner, body or landowner), or to progress from the exploration phase to the development and mining phases of operations may be adversely affected. The Company's mineral titles may also be subject to access by third parties including, but not limited to, the areas traditional owners. This access could potentially impact the Company's activities and may involve payment of compensation to parties whose existing access to the land may be affected by the Company's activities. There may be areas or objects of Aboriginal heritage within the areas covered by those access agreements. If Aboriginal heritage sites or objects exist, Forrestania may need to enter into further agreements with the traditional owners of the sites. The ability of Forrestania to implement its work programme may be adversely affected in both time and cost. The Directors of the Company will closely monitor the potential effect of native title claims or Aboriginal heritage matters involving tenements in which the Company has or may have an interest.
Exploration Costs	The exploration costs of the Company are based on certain assumptions with respect to the method and timing of exploration. By their nature, these estimates and assumptions are subject to significant uncertainty, and accordingly, the actual costs may materially differ from the estimates and assumptions. Accordingly, no assurance can be given that the cost estimates and the underlying assumptions will be realised in practice, which may materially and adversely impact the Company's viability.

RISK CATEGORY	RISK
Mine Development	The ability of the Company to achieve exploration and production targets, or meet operating and capital expenditure estimates, on a timely and accurate basis cannot be assured. Possible future development of mining operations at the Company's is dependent on a number of factors including, but not limited to, the acquisition and/or delineation of economically recoverable mineralisation, favourable geological conditions, receiving the necessary approvals from all relevant authorities and parties, seasonal weather patterns, unanticipated technical and operational difficulties encountered in extraction and production activities, mechanical failure of operating plant and equipment, shortages or increases in the price of consumables, spare parts and plant and equipment, cost overruns, access to the required level of funding and contracting risk from third parties providing essential services. If the Company commences production on one of its current or new projects, its operations may be disrupted by a variety of risks and hazards which are beyond the control of the Company. No assurance can be given that Company will achieve commercial viability through the development of its projects. The risks associated with the development of a mine will be considered in full should the Company's Projects reach that stage and will be managed with ongoing consideration of stakeholder interests.
Environmental	The operations and proposed activities of the Company are subject to Australian regulations concerning the environment. As with most exploration projects and mining operations, the Company's activities are expected to have an impact on the environment, particularly if advanced exploration or mine development proceeds. The Company intends to conduct its activities to the highest standard of environmental obligation, including compliance with all environmental laws. Mining operations have inherent risks and liabilities associated with safety and damage to the environment and the disposal of waste products occurring as a result of mineral exploration and production. The occurrence of any such safety or environmental incident could delay production or increase production costs. Events, such as unpredictable rainfall or bushfires may impact on the Company's ongoing compliance with environmental legislation, regulations and licences. Significant liabilities could be imposed on the Company for damages, clean-up costs or penalties in the event of certain discharges into the environment, environmental damage caused by previous operations or non-compliance with environmental laws or regulations. The disposal of mining and process waste and mine water discharge are under constant legislative scrutiny and regulation. There is a risk that environmental laws and regulations become more onerous making the Company's operations more expensive. Approvals are required for land clearing and for ground disturbing activities. Delays in obtaining such approvals can result in the delay to anticipated exploration programmes or mining activities.

RISK CATEGORY	RISK
Climate Risk	There are a number of climate-related factors that may affect the operations and proposed activities of the Company. The climate change risks particularly attributable to Company include: (a) the emergence of new or expanded regulations associated with the transitioning to a lower-carbon economy and market changes related to climate change mitigation. Company may be impacted by changes to local or international compliance regulations related to climate change mitigation efforts, or by specific taxation or penalties for carbon emissions or environmental damage. These examples sit amongst an array of possible restraints on industry that may further impact the Company and its profitability. While the Company will endeavour to manage these risks and limit any consequential impacts, there can be no guarantee that the Company will not be impacted by these occurrences; and (b) climate change may cause certain physical and environmental risks that cannot be predicted by the Company, including events such as increased severity of weather patterns and incidence of extreme weather events and longer-term physical risks such as shifting climate patterns. All these risks associated with climate change may significantly change the industry in which the Company operates.
Regulatory Compliance	The Company's operating activities are subject to extensive laws and regulations relating to numerous matters including resource licence consent, environmental compliance and rehabilitation, taxation, employee relations, health and worker safety, waste disposal, protection of the environment, native title and heritage matters, protection of endangered and protected species and other matters. The Company requires permits from regulatory authorities to authorise Forrestania's operations. These permits relate to exploration, development, production and rehabilitation activities. While Forrestania believes that it is in substantial compliance with all material current laws and regulations, agreements or changes in their enforcement or regulatory interpretation could result in changes in legal requirements or in the terms of existing permits and agreements applicable to Forrestania or its properties, which could have a material adverse impact on Forrestania's current operations or planned development projects. Obtaining necessary permits can be a time-consuming process and there is a risk that the Company will not obtain these permits on acceptable terms, in a timely manner or at all. The costs and delays associated with obtaining necessary permits and complying with these permits and applicable laws and regulations could materially delay or restrict the Company from proceeding with the development of a project or the operation or development of a mine. Any failure to comply with applicable laws and regulations or permits, even if inadvertent, could result in material fines, penalties or other liabilities. In extreme cases, failure could result in suspension of the Company's activities or forfeiture of one or more of the Company's Projects.

Metallurgy	Metal or mineral recoveries are dependent upon the metallurgical process, and by its nature processing contains elements of significant risk such as: (a) identifying a metallurgical process through test work to produce a saleable metal or concentrate; (b) developing an economic process route to produce a metal or concentrate; and (c) changes in mineralogy in the ore deposit can result in inconsistent metal recovery, affecting the economic viability of the project. No assurance can be given that any particular level of recovery from mineral resources or reserves will in fact be realised or that a mineral resource will ever qualify as commercially viable which can be legally and economically exploited.

4.4 General risks

RISK CATEGORY	RISK
Reliance on Key Personnel	The Company will be dependent on the experience, skills and knowledge of its key personnel in Australia to successfully manage its business. The loss of any of the Company's key personnel, the inability to recruit necessary staff as needed or the increased cost to recruit or retain the necessary staff, may cause a disruption to the Company and adversely impact the Company's operations, financial performance and financial position.
Economic	General economic conditions, introduction of tax reform, new legislation, movements in interest and inflation rates and currency exchange rates may have an adverse effect on the Company, as well as on its ability to fund its operations. If activities cannot be funded, there is a risk that the tenements comprising the Company's Projects may have to be surrendered or not renewed. General economic conditions may also affect the value of the Company and its valuation regardless of its actual performance.
Competition Risk	The industry in which the Company will be involved is subject to domestic and global competition. Although the Company will undertake all reasonable due diligence in its business decisions and operations, the Company will have no influence or control over the activities or actions of its competitors, which activities or actions may, positively or negatively, affect the operating and financial performance of the Company's projects and business.
Market Conditions	Share market conditions may affect the value of the Company's Shares regardless of the Company's operating performance. Share market conditions are affected by many factors such as: (a) general economic outlook; (b) introduction of tax reform or other new legislation; (c) interest rates and inflation rates; (d) changes in investor sentiment toward particular market sectors;

	(e) the demand for, and supply of, capital; and (f) terrorism or other hostilities. The market price of Shares can fall as well as rise and may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities in general and resource exploration stocks in particular. Neither the Company nor the Directors warrant the future performance of the Company or any return on an investment in the Company.
Commodity Price Volatility and Exchange Rate Risks	The Company's operating results, economic and financial prospects and other factors will affect the trading price of the Shares. In addition, the price of Shares is subject to varied and often unpredictable influences on the market for equities, including, but not limited to, general economic conditions including the performance of the Australian dollar on world markets, inflation rates, foreign exchange rates and interest rates, variations in the general market for listed stocks in general, changes to government policy, legislation or regulation, industrial disputes, general operational and business risks and hedging or arbitrage trading activity that may develop involving the Shares. In particular, the share prices for many companies have been and may in the future be highly volatile, which in many cases may reflect a diverse range of non-company specific influences such as global hostilities and tensions relating to certain unstable regions of the world, acts of terrorism and the general state of the global economy. No assurances can be made that Forrestania's market performance will not be adversely affected by any such market fluctuations or factors. The Company's Australian projects are prospective, inter alia, for precious and base metals. The market price of these commodities fluctuate and are affected by numerous factors beyond the control of the Company. These factors include current and expected future supply and demand, forward selling by producers, production cost levels in major metal producing centers as well as macroeconomic conditions such as inflation and interest rates. Fluctuations in commodity prices may impact on the commercial attractiveness or viability of the Company's projects. Furthermore, the international prices of most commodities are denominated in United States dollars and the Company's cost base will be in a combination of Australian dollars and United States dollars. Consequently, changes in these exchange rates may impact on the expenditure of the Company and the Company's purchasing capacity.
Insurance	Forrestania intends to insure its operations in accordance with industry practice. However, in certain circumstances Forrestania's insurance may not be of a nature or level to provide adequate insurance cover. The occurrence of an event that is not covered or fully covered by insurance could have a material adverse effect on the business, financial condition and results of Forrestania. Insurance of all risks associated with Forrestania's business may not always be available and where available the costs can be prohibitive.

Force Majeure	The Company's Projects now or in the future may be adversely affected by risks outside the control of the Company including labour unrest, civil disorder, war, subversive activities or sabotage, fires, floods, explosions or other catastrophes, epidemics or quarantine restrictions.
Taxation	The acquisition and disposal of Shares will have tax consequences, which will differ depending on the individual financial affairs of each investor. All potential investors in the Company are urged to obtain independent financial advice about the consequences of acquiring Shares from a taxation viewpoint and generally. To the maximum extent permitted by law, the Company, its officers and each of their respective advisors accept no liability and responsibility with respect to the taxation consequences of subscribing for Shares under this Bidder's Statement.
Litigation Risks	The Company will be exposed to possible litigation risks including native title claims, tenure disputes, environmental claims, occupational health and safety claims and employee claims. Further, the Company may be involved in disputes with other parties in the future which may result in litigation. Any such claim or dispute if proven, may impact adversely on the Company's operations, reputation, financial performance and financial position. Forrestania is not currently engaged in any litigation.
No Profit to Date	Forrestania has incurred losses since its inception. It is therefore not possible to evaluate its prospects based on past performance. Since the Company intends to continue investing in its exploration programs the Directors anticipate making further losses in the foreseeable future. While the Forrestania Directors have confidence in the future potential of the Company, there can be no certainty that the Company will achieve or sustain profitability or positive cash flow from its operating activities.

4.5 Speculative investment

The risk factors described above, and other risk factors not specifically referred to, may have a materially adverse impact on the performance of the Company and the value of the Shares.

Prospective investors should consider that an investment in the Company is highly speculative.

There is no guarantee that the Shares offered under this Prospectus will provide any return on capital, payment of dividends or increases in the market value of those Shares.

Before deciding whether to subscribe for Shares under this Prospectus you should read this Prospectus in its entirety and consider all factors, taking into account your objectives, financial situation and needs.

The total maximum remuneration of non-executive Directors is initially set by the Constitution and subsequent variation is by ordinary resolution of Shareholders in general meeting in accordance with the Constitution, the Corporations Act and the ASX Listing Rules, as applicable. The determination of non-executive Directors' remuneration within that maximum will be made by the Board having regard to the inputs and value to the Company of the respective contributions by each non-executive Director. The current amount has been set at an amount not to exceed $300,000 per annum.
